ADELAIDE TO MELBOURNE

"THE OVERLAND"

One of the world's finest night trains is "The Overland" which runs daily in each direction between the Victorian and South Australian capitals, stopping at important stations en route.

"The Overland" is made up of luxurious roomette and twinette sleeping carriages and modern saloon-type first and second class air-conditioned sitting carriages.

In roomette and twinette carriages, beds are made up before the train leaves, to be simply pulled into position when required. Each cabin has its own toilet facilities, while the twinette cabins even have their own showers. Roomette passengers use a shower recess at the end of their carriage.

Mothers travelling with a baby in a twinette cabin may arrange with the Stationmaster at Spencer Street, or Adelaide, prior to travel, or with the Conductor on the train, for a bassinette to be provided, without charge.

A light tray breakfast, morning paper delivery and shoe shine are inclusive services for sleeper passengers.

The sitting carriages have adjustable foam-rubber seats for contented lolling or peaceful slumber, individual reading lights and portable tables. Separate wash rooms and toilets at each end provide hot and cold water, power plugs for shavers, and a powder room for the ladies.

TO SYDNEY

"SOUTHERN AURORA"

Latest addition to the fleet of fine trains for interstate travel is the £1 million luxury sleeper express, "Southern Aurora", with five twinette and five roomette carriages providing accommodation for 198 passengers. In addition, there is a sumptuous club car and stylish dining car. "Southern Aurora" runs nightly between Melbourne and Sydney.

Beds have foam rubber mattresses and individual reading lights. Berths, when folded back, provide comfortable seats for day-time travel.

The double berth twinette cabins have their own hot and cold showers, and roomette travellers can enjoy a similar amenity at the end of their carriages. Other features of each cabin are toilets, wash basin with hot and cold running water, spacious wardrobe, full length mirror, vanity bar, power plug for shaver or dictating machine, adjustable venetian blinds, chilled drinking water, shoe shine service, and a complimentary cup of tea with the morning newspaper.

MEALS

Dining car with a-la-carte service; light refreshments and drinks in club car.

Light tray breakfast will be provided, on request, at nominal rates according to order.

"SPIRIT OF PROGRESS"

World famous "Spirit of Progress", while primarily a train for first and second class sitting passengers, has a twinette carriage, similar to those on "Southern Aurora", for sleeping passengers.

Sleeping berth passengers receive a Continental breakfast in bed with the morning newspaper.

At each end of the sitting carriages are wash rooms with hot and cold water; the men's wash room has a power plug for a shaver.

An experienced hostess is on this train to attend to the needs of elderly people, parents and children.

A buffet car provides a continuous meal service.

"INTERCAPITAL DAYLIGHT"

A completely air-conditioned train featuring saloon-type carriages and reclining, adjustable seats. "Intercapital Daylight" provides the daylight service between Melbourne and Sydney, stopping at important N.S.W. stations.

It runs every day except Sundays, and shares with "Southern Aurora" the distinction of making the fastest surface journey between Melbourne and Sydney—of 13 hours.

It's an ideal train for the traveller who likes to relax in armchair comfort and enjoy the varied and interesting scenery through wide landscape windows. Descriptive pamphlets—pleasant souvenirs of the trip—are available to keep passengers informed about the districts through which they pass.

Meals and drinks are served in a modern, spacious buffet car. The service is continuous.

An experienced hostess is on the train to attend to the needs of elderly people, parents and children. Other features are separate toilets, wash rooms with hot and cold water, individual reading lights, and iced drinking water.
